I feel like a wayfarer who,
Surrendered his 'home' upon flight.

I feel like a king who two-handedly,
Surrendered his castle to his 'foe'.

I feel like Adam who fell in for 'temptation',
Who bit the apple and surrendered himself to life.

I feel like that god who was solitary,
And in return surrendered to his creatures' many a 'couple'.

I feel like an ego broken among a group of people who,
Surrendered the taste of uniqueness to "I".
