

GARGENDUA

Yoosaph Peram
Assistant Professor
Department of English
Government College, Mokeri,
Kerala, India

Sleepless skies
Wandered by golden clouds
Depressed in sun.

Blanketed in green scene
A child gulps horizon's
Forbidden fruits.

Inner traits of our ancestors
Run through the veins
Of thirsty wolves,
Howling over the forests
Drying along the decayed dreams.

Dark is the soul
White is the venom
Red is the little eye.

Hunger appeased
Pride exposed
Lies the devil in us all.