

IN SEARCH OF A FULL STOP

In the midst of words
Went out in search of a full stop.
But these words are my companions from my birth.
I feel, they pleads me to avoid a full stop
so they can achieve their goals.
They are weeping, advising and smiling.
They console me in my sorrows and puzzles me with their loving smile.
How can I put an end to this age old relation.
May be giving a full stop abruptly
will hinder the flow of their life.
But they must continue in a different form
either in sorrow or happiness because each full stop is the beginning of another line and an end to the previous reflections.
But these words are ready to accompany till the end.
They offers me more consolation.
How can I give them a full stop?
let them continue .
So I put three full stop together
which conveyed them
they can continue in my life
without a halt...fore ever...
