

UNCONSCIOUSLY CONSCIOUS

S. Manikandan

Assistant Professor,
Pg & Research Department Of English,
Vivekanandha College Of Arts And Sciences For Women (Autonomous),
Elayampalayam

I met a girl in the green woods,
Full of gorgeousness, like a fairy,
Her hair is elongated, eyes are innocent,
She has crossed by my voice,
And broken by rejoice.
She was gifted by goddess,
And transformed whatever forms, she likes.
The beauty (girl) adventures with various worlds,
These worlds are fused with unity, love, affair and equality,
Love, love, love, love!
All animals love their family
And all birds, ants, sparrows, crows and flies.
And finally! A terrible!!
What an ugly creature like a god;
No! No! God is uglier, selfish than the creatures.
The creatures, that creatures none other than 'human'
Yes, human: civilized, six senses creatures.
No unity, love, affair with their HOME
24*7 roaming with phone not connected with HOME
But she is an innocent beauty:
Searching peace, love, care, and affair,
Between the mother womb and the earth womb.